Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
There will be cloud and patchy rain over much of England and Wales at first, whilst northwestern parts should start off drier and brighter. It will be quite breezy but the brighter conditions will spread across the UK during the morning. This will leave many places fine by the afternoon with plenty of sunshine and just a few showers.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Thursday and Friday look set to be rather cloudy and windy for many. Some outbreaks of rain or drizzle are likely in the north and west, whilst southern and eastern areas have a greater chance of some bright or sunny spells.
