

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Monday 18 Feb 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Northern Scotland will be rather cloudy with occasional light drizzle. Elsewhere will be dry and largely sunny today, then cold and frosty tonight. Some early fog may be slow to clear across N.Ireland and eastern England today and more widespread freezing fog will develop again tonight.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Dry and sunny with light winds generally tomorrow, although it will be cold where any early fog patches persist. Mostly cloudy with the brightest conditions in central and eastern England on Wednesday, and some outbreaks of rain in the north and west and perhaps also the far southeast. Temperatures around or below normal.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.