Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Patchy rain will affect southwestern England through the day. Drier and brighter elsewhere but with showers in places that may be wintry across the north. It will be breezy making it feel rather cold in the wind. Overnight, the rain across southwestern areas will spread east across other southern counties. Mainly dry elsewhere with a frost in the north.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Rain will affect many southern areas on Tuesday. Drier and brighter further north with scattered wintry showers but windy everywhere, making it feel rather cold. Largely cloudy on Wednesday with rain and strong winds affecting many areas through the day.
