Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Cloud and patchy rain across central areas will edge slowly southwards, but weakening as it does so, with southern parts remaining largely dry with sunny spells. To the north, brighter with sunshine; but also scattered heavy showers in the northwest.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Largely fine on Friday with good spells of sunshine and isolated showers in the north. Becoming rather cold overnight with a patchy frost. Saturday will be rather windy in the north with cloud and rain pushing south, fragmenting all the while, with brighter and showery weather following. It will remain largely fine and dry in the south with sunny spells.
