++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A band of heavy rain and strong winds across parts of Scotland and Northern Ireland will sweep southeastwards through the day, reaching southeast England by late afternoon. Fresher conditions along with brighter skies and blustery showers will follow on and it will remain quite windy in the north.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Tuesday will also see a mixture of sunshine and showers, these mostly across northern and eastern areas where they could turn heavy at times. Many parts will be dry on Wednesday, although rain will return to the far northwest. There'll still be some chilly nights, but days will be pleasantly warm.
