Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Any patchy fog clearing during the morning, then a dry and bright day for most, with perhaps the odd shower affecting southeastern coasts. The best of the sunshine will be in the west, where it will feel pleasantly warm, but it will be cooler along the North Sea coasts.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Wednesday will be dry with sunny spells for many, but possibly the odd light shower in the east and southwest of England, where it will be breezier. Feeling pleasantly warm in the sunshine. It will be a similar on Thursday, with most places seeing sunny spells, and feeling pleasantly warm.
