

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Wednesday 08 Jun 2016

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It'll be a mostly fine day with sunny spells, although cloudy and murky near some coasts. Some showers, perhaps heavy, are likely to develop later, mainly in the north-west of England and Wales, and the south-east of England. The night will be dry and mild, with further cloud and fog near some coasts.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Thursday should be fine and sunny for most, with perhaps the odd light shower in the afternoon. Overnight Thursday, the weather will turn cooler, cloudier and more unsettled, with spells of rain arriving from the west and affecting all areas by the end of Friday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2016. Published by the Met Office.