Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
There will be some icy patches at first. Largely dry and sunny conditions will prevail, and showers will continue to die out, and winds will ease too. It will feel less cold. Cloud and rain will reach the northwest later.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

It will be windy across many northwestern areas on Thursday with local gales and rain at times, and this will often be heavy in western Scotland. Southeastern areas will be mostly dry with some sunshine. Much milder everywhere. Conditions on Friday will be similar to those expected on Thursday although some other western parts may see some drizzle. Winds will increase.
