

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Thursday 05 May 2011

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Much of western Britain will be cloudy with outbreaks of rain at times. In the east, some hazy sunshine, but perhaps a sharp shower in the afternoon. Warmer. Further rain for Scotland and Northern Ireland tonight, the rain or showers in parts of western England and Wales clearing.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Warm in the east on Friday with sunshine, cloudier in the west with rain or showers. Later, the risk of heavy, thundery showers spreading north into southern England. Outbreaks of heavy rain or thundery showers will spread northeast across many parts of the UK on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2011. Published by the Met Office.