

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 04 Apr 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Patchy light rain will spread south through Scotland, reaching Northern Ireland by afternoon and the far north of England by the evening. Any showers in southern England should become confined to the far Southwest with all other areas dry and bright, with the sunniest conditions in northern England. Milder and considerably less windy in central Britain than Wednesday.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Patchy rain in places on Friday, but southern Britain staying mainly dry with some sunshine. Cooler with the risk of a few wintry showers in the Northeast on Saturday, but clouding over in the Northwest through the afternoon with rain possible later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.