Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
There is a chance of a few showers across Scotland and the far north of England, but most other places will be largely dry and sunny throughout the day. Winds will start to gradually decrease across the north and it will feel pleasantly warm in sunshine.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:
High pressure will dominate the UK through the start of the week, bringing settled conditions with fine, dry and sunny weather for all. However, there is a risk of an isolated heavy shower on Monday in Scotland and the north of England. It will also become cooler and breezier in the southeast on Tuesday.
