Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Fog patches over southern and eastern parts of England soon clearing in the morning as an area of cloud and patchy light rain over northern England spreads south to reach southern counties in the afternoon. Much clearer weather over Scotland and Northern Ireland will follow to most parts by the end of the day.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Mostly dry with sunny spells on Tuesday but rain reaching the far north.
Generally cloudier on Wednesday with some showery rain over the north where it will become quite windy with gales in the far north. Mainly dry with bright spells over the south and east.
