Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Any early shallow mist or fog patches will quickly clear, leaving a largely dry with some warm sunny periods. A few sharp showers are expected to develop, most likely across Scotland and Northern Ireland, with just a very isolated shower across England and Wales. Breezy in the north, otherwise feeling pleasant in the sunshine.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Rather unsettled on Friday with sunshine and showers, some heavy and thundery. More persistent rain is likely in the south and east. Remaining unsettled into Saturday as well, with bright or sunny spells and showers, some heavy with a risk of localised thunder.
