Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A damp start in eastern and southeastern areas with rain clearing slowly during the morning. Most places will then be dry with bright or sunny spells, especially in the west, although some showers will develop as well. Feeling cooler in brisk northwesterly breeze.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Thursday will begin unsettled with outbreaks of heavy rain and strong winds especially across northern and western upslopes. Scotland, Northern Ireland and Northern England will become cooler with heavy showers as rain clears southwards. Chilly and mainly dry during Thursday evening across the UK, but milder, wetter weather with outbreaks of heavy rain will return for Friday.
