Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will remain very unsettled, with heavy showers or longer spells of rain continuing through the day, this most persistent in eastern Scotland and Wales. It will stay very windy with widespread gales continuing, these severe around southern and some western coasts.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

There will be fewer showers for many on Thursday, with winds gradually easing, but through the afternoon rain will arrive in the south and spread north. This rain will clear to isolated showers through Friday morning, but further wet and very windy weather will reach the southwest later.
