

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

A waving frontal zone will remain slow moving across the area before slowly clearing east on Monday, conditions improving over Wales, NW England and Scotland during the morning, though not till the afternoon further south. Rain could turn thundery at times with some intense downpours within the longer spells of rain. There is the chance that this warning may be upgraded to amber, especially for SW England.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 20:00 on Sun, 04th Aug 2013 until 16:00 on Mon, 05th Aug 2013

Rain will turn heavy on Sunday evening continuing overnight and into Monday before easing away westwards. Accumulations of 20-40 mm are likely with the risk of more than 60 mm over parts of SW England. The public are advised to be aware of the risk of surface water flooding.
