

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 01 Mar 2007

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Generally fine start, but chilly. Central and eastern parts will have a dry morning with sunny spells. Rain soon over the far west will spread across other western areas during the morning, then over most central and southeastern parts in the afternoon. Staying dry, but more cloudy in the east. Mild with moderate southerly winds developing.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Sunshine and showers generally on Saturday, then mostly cloudy, wet and windy on Sunday with some heavy rain likely in places. Clearer, more showery conditions are expected to reach western parts later on. Temperatures around normal in the north, but mild in the south.

(C) Crown Copyright 2007. Published by the Met Office.