++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Outbreaks of rain will affect the northwest of the UK, heavy in northwestern Scotland, with brisk westerly winds. Severe gales are likely in the far north. Fog will clear from the rest of England and Wales during the morning to leave warm sunny spells for most. However, it will stay quite cloudy and feel cooler around western coasts.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

It will stay quite cloudy in northern and western parts of the UK with outbreaks of rain at times. The best of the settled, warm and sunny weather is most likely in the south and east, and it will be generally breezy.
