Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Cloud and occasionally heavy rain will continue across parts of the east where it will be breezy and cool, whilst many western areas stay fine and warm with good spells of sunshine. Patchy rain may affect Northern Ireland and western fringes through the afternoon.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Many areas cloudy at first on Friday, but any rain clearing then becoming brighter and feeling humid. Isolated, heavy, thundery showers may develop over England later and more widely on Saturday, with a risk of localised downpours. Meanwhile cloud and rain will affect the north and west. Feeling warm and humid in the south and east.
