

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 23 May 2011

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Another windy day across northern parts of the UK, with a risk of gales around the coasts and hills of northern Scotland. Frequent, squally showers across many northwestern parts will become confined to northwest Scotland and the Northern Isles during the afternoon. Elsewhere, dry with plenty of sunshine and much lighter winds.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Strengthening winds and outbreaks of rain will return to Northern Ireland and much of Scotland on Wednesday, however the bulk of England and Wales should remain dry with some sunshine. The unsettled conditions will become more widespread on Thursday, but little rain is expected across southeast England.

(C) Crown Copyright 2011. Published by the Met Office.