Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be very wet in southern Scotland and southwest England with heavy rain expected, this easing slightly across Scotland later. Some fairly persistent but generally lighter rain for Northern Ireland. Heavy, thundery showers developing elsewhere with some sunny spells.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Heavy rain will move north to affect northern Scotland on Sunday while much of England and Wales will be showery with some showers turning slow-moving and heavy with a risk of thunder. On Monday, rather cloudy with outbreaks of rain, the most persistent in the east, more showery further west but remaining cloudy.
