Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a chilly but bright start in the east, cloud and rain over western areas will spread to all but the far southeast by the evening. It will be rather windy with the rain, especially in in the far north and northwest, with severe gales possible.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Thursday is looking like a rather cloudy day for many with another band of rain set to spread in from the west. This rain is likely to stall across the UK on Friday, so further outbreaks of rain are likely for many, but there should also be some drier and brighter conditions.
