Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Scattered heavy and rather blustery showers will develop over southwestern UK before spreading to much of England and Wales. These showers will be coupled with sunny spells, the best of these in the east. Much of Northern Ireland and Scotland should be drier and brighter throughout.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Rather cool at times to end the week, with sunny spells and showers. The showers will initially be focused in western areas before transferring eastwards during both days, with some heavy and thundery downpours developing in places. In addition to the gusty showers, it will remain breezy in some southern and western areas.
