

Storm Bronagh

Storm Bronagh was the second storm of the 2018/19 storm season. It brought gusts up to 78 mph to parts of England and Wales.

Storm Bronagh was named on 20 September with strong winds forecast particularly for the southern half of the UK.

It brought widespread strong winds and heavy rain, with the strongest gusts being recorded across the hills and coasts of England and Wales.

Storm Bronagh - Maximum gust speeds (mph)

Site name	Area	Max gust (mph)
Needles	Isle of Wight	78
Berry Head	Devon	69
Capel Curig	Gwynedd	64
Mumbles Head	West Glamorgan	63
Pembrey Sands	Dyfed	62
Isle of Portland	Dorset	61
Culdrose	Cornwall	61
Emley Moor	West Yorkshire	60
Plymouth	Devon	60

Storm Bronagh impacts

Storm Bronagh brought flooding in parts of Wales and Yorkshire as well as some disruption to power supplies and channel ferry crossings. Fallen trees also led to some rail delays and cancellations.