++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
England and Wales, and a good part of Scotland and Northern Ireland will start the day dry, with any mist or fog soon clearing. Rain in the far west, will slowly make progress eastwards, although many central and eastern areas will remain dry during daylight hours. A windy day everywhere, with a risk of gales around coasts and hills.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Overnight rain will clear all but the far northeast of Scotland on Thursday, to be replaced by sunshine and heavy, blustery showers. Remaining very showery on Friday, although it will become less windy. Staying on the mild side for early November.
