Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a very warm, hot and humid day across England and Wales, with isolated thunderstorms developing during the day. Any thundery downpours will drift north-eastwards during the afternoon, affecting the Midlands and parts of northeast England. Early rain clearing Scotland, before more rain arrives in the west later. Drier and brighter for Northern Ireland.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

We will continue to see the warm conditions across the south on Friday, with some dry and bright weather for many. Rain will arrive from the west later, which will bring a change to fresher conditions through Saturday, with rain spreading southeast.
