Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Good Friday is going to be mainly cloudy at first with some occasional rain.
However, it should become drier through the day with the cloud breaking somewhat to allow for a few bright or sunny intervals, mainly across western parts.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

The rest of the Easter weekend is set to be mainly dry with light winds as high pressure builds from the west. It is likely to be rather cloudy at times but some sunny intervals are possible, these becoming more frequent. It's going to feel noticeable milder than of late, especially in any spring sunshine.
