++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Rain will spread eastwards across north-western parts today, followed by scattered showers. Windy here too, whilst southern and eastern parts will see another fine, warm and dry day. Further patchy rain for some overnight, turning heavy at times in the north and west. Meanwhile, remaining dry in the south and east with some clear spells.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Friday will see a mostly dry start, though the skies will cloud over in the west during the afternoon with heavy rain and strong winds arriving here later. The rain will slowly clear the southeast on Saturday, whilst blustery showers will affect the northwest.
