++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Rain across north Wales and central England will move south through the morning, breaking up by the afternoon. Otherwise, bright with sunny spells and scattered showers are expected. Showers will be heaviest in southeast England, and will tend to ease leaving a largely dry night with clear spells, although a few showers may continue across central England.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Sunny spells for most on Friday and Saturday, with scattered showers, particularly on Friday, when they may be heavy. Cloud and more persistent rain in northern Scotland of Friday, with more extensive rain in the northwest of the UK on Saturday.
