++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Early fog will lift on Wednesday morning, with some brighter spells developing.
Elsewhere it will be often cloudy through the day, with rain slowly edging south-eastwards. It will be windy too with gales in exposure but it will feel mild though, especially in northeast Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
It's set to stay unsettled towards the weekend, with outbreaks of rain at times.
These will mainly be in the north and west, where it will also be windy. Drier and brighter interludes are likely too however, and it will feel mild for all.
