

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 04 Oct 2007

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Mist and fog patches will clear during Friday morning to give much of the UK a dry, fine and mainly sunny day. Somewhat more cloud is expected across northwestern Scotland where a little drizzle is possible, especially later. Also, cloud will increasingly affect some eastern areas of England during the afternoon. Feeling very pleasant in the sunshine with light winds.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

The fine, settled weather will continue across England and Wales throughout the weekend with sunny spells by day and clear spells overnight. Thicker cloud will affect central Scotland and perhaps northern parts of Northern Ireland, bringing just a little rain.

(C) Crown Copyright 2007. Published by the Met Office.