

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 04 Aug 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Most of England and Wales will have a dry and bright start, but Scotland, Northern Ireland, and the northwest England will have an occasional shower. The showers in Scotland will soon turn heavy, especially in the west. Elsewhere across England and Wales scattered light showers will break out in the early afternoon. There will be a brisk northwesterly wind.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Friday will see rain spreading to all areas from the west, with western hills and mountains likely to see some heavy rain for a time. Saturday will be a drier, brighter day but the occasional shower will still be possible anywhere.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.