++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rather cloudy to start across some southern areas with fog in places but these should soon lift with plenty of sunshine developing. By the afternoon, most areas will enjoy sunny spells, light winds and warm temperatures although thicker cloud and stronger winds will affect western Scotland by evening.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

Rain and strong winds across western Scotland will push south on Saturday but will weaken, so any rain will be patchy across central areas. Further south, it will stay fine and warm. Most parts will enjoy another sunny day on Sunday, although rain and stronger winds will again affect parts of Scotland.
