Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It will be cloudy, cool and breezy across southern parts of Britain with some rain, most likely in the far southwest. Scattered showers are expected across northeastern parts of Scotland. Otherwise it will be dry with sunny spells but cloud will slowly increase. Many places will be dry overnight, however, rain will spread across southern and western areas by dawn.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Northern and eastern Britain will be dry with a few sunny spells on Saturday, but rain will continue northeastwards affecting most places by Sunday, with hill snow across Scotland. Sunshine and heavy showers will follow, and it will be windy.
