Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Heavy rain should clear from northeastern England during the morning but continue to affect parts of southern Scotland throughout the day. A mixture of sunshine and heavy showers are expected elsewhere, with more persistent rain reaching southwest England and Wales later. It will also feel much cooler in the east of the UK.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Staying unsettled with sunshine and heavy showers but a spell of more prolonged rain is expected later on Thursday in the west of the UK. Showers should be less frequent towards the south on Friday, but it will be breezy here. Temperatures will be rather cool.
