

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Tuesday 23 Jul 2013

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Heavy and thundery rain will affect far eastern areas of England and Scotland at first, otherwise there will be broken cloud and warm sunny spells across most parts. However some heavy showers are likely to develop across Scotland and Northern Ireland later. Heavy rain may also spread into southwestern areas by evening.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

A band of heavy and perhaps thundery rain will move northeastwards across most parts of the UK on Thursday. This will be followed by a mixture of sunny spells and scattered heavy and thundery showers. It will also feel less hot, but temperatures still warmer than average.

(C) Crown Copyright 2013. Published by the Met Office.