

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 09 Sep 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Cloudy with spells of rain across much of the UK, though drier conditions and some brightness should prevail towards southern and southeastern England. Wet and breezy for western areas throughout, with south Wales seeing the heaviest of the rain. It should, however, become drier later for northeast England, eastern Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

The rain gradually clears eastwards during Saturday leaving sunshine and showers for most. Sunday should see mainly dry and bright conditions, although northwest Scotland will turn cloudier and windier with some rain following later. Temperatures should be near normal and feeling warm in any sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.