Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Cloudier for most places, with southern and eastern parts of England remaining dry. Light showers will affect much of Scotland and Northern Ireland, with only isolated outbreaks elsewhere. In the evening, rain will slowly spread eastwards to affect all but the Midlands, southern and eastern England. It should continue feeling fresh, with winds strengthening across northwestern parts of the UK.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Remaining rather windy and feeling fresh in northwestern parts of the UK throughout, with scattered showers and bright or sunny spells. Occasional rain should clear southeast England on Wednesday, then it should become drier, brighter and feel warmer on Thursday.
