

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Wednesday 10 Oct 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Western areas will be cloudy today, with a little rain in the southwest. It will be dry in the east with some sunny spells, the best of these in Scotland and northeast England. It should stay dry in the east overnight, but the west will remain cloudy with outbreaks of rain becoming more persistent and locally heavy by dawn.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Rain in the west will spread to all areas on Thursday, becoming heavy and persistent at times, especially so in the north. It will clear all but the far northeast on Friday, with sunny spells and scattered, heavy showers elsewhere.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.