

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 01 Aug 2011

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Outbreaks of rain will clear northwards during tomorrow morning leaving many places dry. However, scattered showers are expected to follow fairly quickly early in the afternoon, turning heavy and possibly thundery from the Midlands northwards. The southeast of England looks set to see the best of the dry and bright weather, feeling warm and humid once again.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Wednesday and Thursday will remain changeable, with sunny spells and further scattered sharp showers on Wednesday, followed by longer spells of rain on Thursday. Temperatures will start to fall closer to average though, as winds change to a fresher northwesterly by Thursday evening.

(C) Crown Copyright 2011. Published by the Met Office.