++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Any morning mist and low cloud will lift and break to leave a dry and bright day, with some warm sunshine developing across southern Britain. Cloud and patchy rain in the far northwest will clear away northwards. Cloud and rain will spread into western parts of the UK overnight, with freshening winds. Dry with clear spells elsewhere.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Mostly dry with sunny spells on Thursday, with perhaps some light rain in the west first thing. Meanwhile, outbreaks of rain and strong winds will affect northwestern parts. Friday will see sunshine and showers, before heavy rain moves eastwards overnight. Feeling fresher.
