

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 03 Jun 2016

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a dull start with low cloud, mist and some hill fog affecting many away from northern Scotland. Under the cloud there will be a few outbreaks of rain but gradually this will become confined to western England, Wales and Northern Ireland. Elsewhere it will become sunny and warm, particularly in the east.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

Looking ahead, many areas will be dry and sunny on Sunday and Monday with a scattering of heavy, locally thundery showers in the west. In the sunshine it will become warm or very warm for most, although around the coasts it will feel fresher.
