Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It'll be an improving picture across Scotland and Northern Ireland after a cloudy start with outbreaks of rain. Cloud and outbreaks of rain will drift slowly southeastwards across northern England and Wales, also parts of southwest England. Generally dry and cloudy for most, with some sunny spells in southeast England, where it will feel pleasantly spring-like.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Sunday will see further bands of rain moving eastwards across the UK, with some drier and brighter interludes. We will see a more prolonged drier spell of weather into early next week, with some bright or sunny spells and it will stay rather mild.
