Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Patchy light rain and cloud will continue to spread eastwards, reaching eastern parts by around lunch time. It should begin to brighten up and turn drier in the west from lunchtime, however scattered showers will develop, which may be heavy at times. Temperatures around average for the time of year.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

A mixture of sunshine and showers for most. Some of these showers may be heavy with a risk of thunder. It will also feel cool compared to recent days. It will likely turn breezy on Wednesday, especially in the south.
