++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Heavy rain will become confined to the northeast tomorrow, bringing some heavy bursts of rain to north east England and Scotland. Elsewhere in the south, a band of cloud and patchy rain will clear to the east in the afternoon with brighter, fresher conditions following behind, extending to all but the far south east by the end of the day.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Conditions will remain changeable on both Thursday and Friday, with showers or spells of rain across the north and west, occasionally there could be some thunderstorms. Further south though it is likely to remain dry with some decent sunny spells.
