

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 07 Dec 2009

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a generally dry and bright start to the day, thickening cloud and rain will spread steadily northeastwards across Northern Ireland and western Britain to give a wet and breezy afternoon. Apart from isolated light showers, eastern Britain should remain largely dry and bright throughout the day, before rain arrives from the west during the evening.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Wednesday looks set to be a bright and breezy day, with a mix of sunshine and scattered showers. The showers most prevalent and heaviest in the north and west. Mainly fine and dry on Thursday, with frost and fog patches overnight.

(C) Crown Copyright 2009. Published by the Met Office.