Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Many areas will see sunny periods and showers on Saturday and some of the showers will be heavy, with a risk of thunder in the south. However, northern England and eastern Scotland will have a largely dry day with only a few, isolated showers. Strong winds, cloud and outbreaks of rain will continue across northwest Scotland throughout the day.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Further sunny periods and showers are expected on Sunday, and an area of more persistent rain will spread to some western parts of Britain. This rain will slowly clear eastwards during Monday with it turning drier and brighter through the day.
