Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain will persisting northern and eastern parts on Tuesday, it will be heavy at times, especially in northeast Scotland. Elsewhere, sunny spells and blustery showers are expected. It will be a cool day , especially for those exposed to the northwesterly wind which will be strong with coastal gale expected.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Wednesday will be a much drier day, though with strong winds and rain still affecting the far northeast. For many there will be some sunshine, though later patchy rain will arrive in the southwest. This rain will turn heavy and affect most on Thursday, before clearing away by Friday.
