++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Today will be cooler than of late, particularly in the northeast, with a northerly breeze. Staying rather cloudy but dry for many with occasional sunny spells, especially later. There will be a few showers, the heaviest in the east. Any remaining showers will fade away tonight leaving a chilly night with clear spells.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

A fine, dry day with sunny spells on Thursday, and feeling warmer than today. During the afternoon cloud will start to thicken in the northwest with rain arriving later. Staying fine in the south for Friday, but cloudier with rain in the north.
