Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a cool start for some it will be a dry but mainly cloudy day, with the best of any sunshine likely in the west. The cloud may be thicken enough by the afternoon to produce the odd shower over the east Midlands and East Anglia, although most will remain dry. Brisk easterly winds will make for a cool feel.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Remaining cool and largely cloudy towards the end of the week with a greater risk of seeing a few showers more widely. Winds will stay brisk on Friday, although easing into Saturday giving a greater risk of mist and fog.
